Description

Composite work is a creative photographic art-form where the original background in an image is replaced by a more creative atmospheric background. Composites are sometimes shot against a green or blue screen for easy removal of the background, but can be shot virtually anywhere; however, some photos are easier to composite than others. Composites are excellent for CD Covers, Posters and more! The possibilities are endless.

$49 per photo (compositing only, see photo packages above for photography rates)

What Photos Make the Best Composites?

Photos shot on a solid colored background or green screen are best to composite. It is recommended that your background of your photo does not match your clothing or your hair. Photos shot against trees or shrubbery are not recommended because they are more difficult to remove the background. High quality, high resolution well lit photos are preferred.
